ARGONAUTS STAFF

Mental and manual labor went into the publishing of Centrals Year Book, "The Argonauts." It contains pictures and stories of the classes and activities of the school. It is published once a year under the supervision of Mrs. Irene Owings and the members of the staff. Douglas Davis and Buddy Westlake, the business managers of both the year book and Hi-Lights, did an excellent job in planning and raising funds to make the book available to the students.

Those taking active part in the planning and publishing of "The Argonauts" were: Howard, Kaufman, Arlyne Marzolla, Maxine Childs, Helen Drobny, Jim Westlake, Steven Gilmore, Bonita Brown, Douglas Davis and Buddy Westlake.

The thanks of the staff go to Miss Virginia Edmiston, who did so much to help make the book attractive and for the art work done under her supervision.

Thanks also go to Mrs. Lucille Estes for doing the typing and helping in so many ways.

The monthly newspaper, "The Hi-Lights," established in 1932, has done much to keep the parents acquainted with the activities of the school. A copy is given to each student to take home, due mainly to the business managers, Doug Davis and Bud Westlake, who did such a bang-up job in getting advertisements.

Arlyne Marzolla was editor of the paper during the first semester. Quinley Witt took over the editorship in February. Jim Westlake and Stephen Gilmore were the assistants to the business managers and will assume those positions in September.

All those working on the paper did an excellent job. The room reporters kept the readers informed as to what was happening in the individual classes.

Our advertisers, too, come in for the fine support they have given the Hi--Lights ever since it was first established. Without their assistance our newspaper would not have been successful.
