Student Body control was introduced into Central this year. It is rather a slow job getting the students to realize that the conduct of those attending Central is their responsibility and they should be able to govern themselves as a student body. There are 28 monitors under the direction of Don Rigby and Delight Compton and 14 jury members. The Judge is Marjorie Avrit. The monitors issue citations to those who have broken a rule and on a decided day the monitors and the accused meet in front of a jury to plead their case. The jury listens to both sides and then bring in the verdict and the Judge passes sentence.

The classes numbered about thirty members meeting on Tuesday and Thursday each week.

Some of the projects undertaken included the scenery for the Christmas pageant, posters for the bond drive and the art work for this year book. A little work has been done in water color, printing, figure drawing, finger painting, drawing to music, paper sculpturing and crafts.

Through this art activity we have tried to meet the needs of the pupils. The classes have proven most interesting and next year we hope to have many more students enjoying art.

The cover for the year book was done by Barbara Stutz. Others who did the art for the year book were: Bob Evans, Jim Poteet, Lynn Dwyer, Roberta Stearns, John Holman, Delight Compton, Dick Deatsch, Jim Brush and Molly Flower.
